

Social Studies Showcase

May 5, 2016

Host School

Windward High School
Ferndale School District

Host Teacher and Class

Evan Ritchie and World Perspectives: 9/10

District Point People

Lee Anne Riddle, School Board
Linda Quinn, Superintendent

Chris Perkins, Social Studies Teacher and member of OSPI Social Studies Cadre

OSPI Participants

Randy Dorn, Superintendent of Public Instruction

Dan Newell, Assistant Superintendent, Secondary Education and Student Support

Carol Coe, Program Supervisor, Social Studies

To see lesson plans and accompanying units of study using the C3 Framework,* please visit the Curriculum Page of the Washington State Council for the Social Studies website.

For information about Ferndale School District as a District in Action, please contact Jan Brennan, (302-299-3661 or jbrennan@ecs.org), National Center for Learning and Civic Engagement, Educational Commission of the States.

*The College, Career, and Civic Life (C3) Framework is a powerful tool for enhancing social studies instruction. With inquiry at its core, the four dimensions of the C3 Framework center on the use of questions to spark student curiosity, guide instruction, and deepen investigation. The Framework is aligned with Common Core State Standards for ELA and Literacy in History/Social Studies; it challenges students to acquire rich social studies content and to rigorously apply knowledge and skills in real-world settings.