The curriculum is easy to use and provides an engaging video for students to watch with interactive activities to reinforce the material. It is age appropriate for elementary age students. The curriculum provides easy lesson plans to go along with the video.

I like that there is sufficient material for the instructor to review prior to teaching. Also, this curriculum comes with all the material you could possibly need such as slides, permission slips, certificate of completion, etc.

Keeping Kids Safe is an e-Learning program that teaches students in grades K-2, age-appropriate sexual abuse prevention and personal body safety education. After watching a 15-minute video focusing on safe touch, emotions, and safe adults, there are a series of activities that can be done over the next few days to reinforce the learning objectives. While the video does not show anyone who appears gay or with a non-binary gender or with a disability, it does show more ethnic diversity than the average curriculum.

Socio-Cultural relevance: The examples and pictures do not address some of the unique cultural features of certain ethnicities, which impact peer-to-peer and student-to-adult relationships.
