PURPOSE/BACKGROUND

Since the publication of the 2021–22 Enrollment Reporting Handbook on August 26, 2021, the following changes have been made.

- On page 20, additional instruction for claiming skill center courses has changed to the following:

For middle and high schools, FTE is calculated based on each class period's weekly minutes divided by 1,665. Students who arrive late or leave early on a regular basis would have their FTE adjusted to reflect their weekly minutes for the period. For skill center programs, students who arrive late or leave early on a regular basis but attend at least 90% of the daily instruction would not need to have their FTE adjusted or reduced.

- On page 22, the following change has been made regarding skill center passing time:

Passing Time Between High School and Skill Center: For approved skill center classes only, a maximum of 30 minutes of passing time per session can be claimed. For each 50 minutes of instructional time, 10 minutes of passing time is allowed. Breaks within the 50 minutes of instructional time are considered passing time. For students regularly arriving late and departing early and missing more than 10% of the daily skill center instructional time, their passing time is reduced pro rata.
